MANAGEMENT

WILLIAM V. BIDWILL, Managing General Partner

Bill Bidwill is the top executive of the oldest, continuous football franchise in the United States. The Football Cardinals can trace their lineage back to before the turn-of-the-century and a group known as the Morgan Athletic Club in south Chicago. Early this century the team became the Racine Street Cardinals and eventually became the Chicago Cardinals. The team moved to St. Louis in 1960.

Bidwill, whose title is managing general partner, took sole command of the club in 1972. During the next six years the Cardinals have been a consistent playoff contender and have enjoyed their greatest successes since moving to St. Louis. Bidwill, who works at the Cardinals office each day, is devoted to the team and to the efficiency of its operation.

Bidwill, 47, grew up with the Big Red organization. He is the son of the late Charles W. Bidwill, who is a member of the Pro Football's Hall of Fame and former owner and president of the Cardinals. Bill has been involved in every area of operations with the Cardinals. He carried water to the players as a youth and became a team vice-president in his early twenties.

Bidwill is recognized as a prominent St. Louis civic leader and has been cited for his efforts with a number of charities. He has most recently become involved with establishing a Chair for Orthopedic Surgery at Washington University. He is a graduate of Georgetown University and a Navy veteran. Bidwill and his wife Nancy live in Clayton, Mo. with their four sons (William, Jr., Patrick, Michael and Timothy) and a daughter (Nicole).

MANAGEMENT

JOE SULLIVAN, Director of Operations

Joe Sullivan's trek to the Cardinals' front office is as All-American as his name is Irish. It began with his brother Jack in Milwaukee and continued through the front offices of the Chicago Bears, Los Angeles Rams and Washington Redskins.

Sullivan, who is beginning his sixth season as the Big Red's director of operations, became noticed by the NFL when he and his brother supplied Milwaukee newspapers and the Packers with drafting lists in the late fifties. The Bears' George Halas soon found out and hired the two brothers in 1960 on a part-time basis. When Bears' assistant George Allen moved to the head coaching position at Los Angeles in 1966, he hired Joe as his special assignments' coach. Sullivan made the switch to the Redskins with Allen in 1971, becoming assistant general manager and keeping some coaching responsibilities. Sullivan joined the Cardinals in 1973.

Sullivan, 54, is involved in every phase of the Cardinals' organization. Some of his specific duties include trades, supervision of the Big Red's college and professional scouting, contract signings and personnel relations.

Joe is a Marine Corps veteran and a native of Milwaukee. He and his wife Joan live in Clayton, Mo.

LARRY WILSON, Assistant Director of Operations

As Stan Musial is to the Baseball Cardinals, Larry Wilson is to the Football Cardinals. Larry is an all-time St. Louis hero and his playing style is now legendary. Wilson retired after the 1972 season and has been a member of the Big Red's front office since then.

Wilson, 40, served four years as the team's director of pro scouting and is now entering his second season as assistant director of operations. He works closely with Joe Sullivan in all phases of the Cardinal organization. One of Larry's main responsibilities is the overseeing of other NFL teams' player transactions.

A running back at Utah, Wilson was the seventh round draft choice of the Cardinals in 1960, the year the team moved to St. Louis. As a rookie, he was switched to defensive back and immediately became a starter. He made the safety blitz famous and was described by former quarterback Bobby Layne as "the toughest man in football."

In his 13-year playing career, Larry laid claim to ten Big Red records, including almost every interception mark. Wilson made eight Pro Bowl appearances and was named All Pro six times. He had his best season in 1966 when he led the NFL with ten interceptions and tied a league mark with interceptions in seven consecutive games.

With just the minimum five-year wait, Wilson was selected to Pro Football's Hall of Fame last January. Larry and his wife, Dee Ann, have three children, two sons and a daughter, and they live in Chesterfield, Mo.

BUD WILKINSON, HEAD COACH

The news from the St. Louis Football Cardinal office March 2, 1978 was surprising. Maybe even shocking. Certainly it was unexpected.

BUD WILKINSON IS THE NEW BIG RED COACH

"You mean Bud Wilkinson, the legendary Oklahoma coach?"

You've got it . . . the very same.

The goal of the Cardinals' new head coach is to produce the same type of highly successful football team that marked his tenure as the builder of Oklahoma's dynasty in collegiate football. His Sooner teams produced a composite record of 145-29-4 and won conference championships 14 times in his 17-year career (1947-63) as head coach. They also won three national championships, two Sugar Bowls, four Orange Bowls and had four undefeated seasons.

"Bud Wilkinson will bring leadership, superb organizational ability and mature stability to our franchise," said William V. Bidwill, Managing General Partner of the Cardinals.

Wilkinson, 62, is returning to the coaching ranks after an absence of 15 years spent in political and business ventures. He also was a television commentator for collegiate football from 1965 to 1976.

"Anyone who has ever participated in athletics in any way recognizes the depth of the meaning of the experience — the emotional factors, the commitment to excellence, the sacrifices it requires. If you have ever been involved, it's something you miss," Wilkinson said. "The opportunity, the challenge, the involvement, those things partially explain my desire to return to coaching."

"The fundamentals of the game remain the same," Wilkinson maintains. "I don't think the good athlete has ever changed. My job is to maximize the talent of every player."

Dedicated to this purpose, the new Big Red field boss and his staff will be adopting this "commitment to excellence." "Second place is something no one remembers," Wilkinson said.

Wilkinson's defensive strategy has brought him the most recognition. He developed the "Okie" defense, which basically is the 3-4 defense now used by many pro teams. But he was an innovator on offense as well.

"Everybody is trying to do a little something unexpectedly all the time and that will continue," he said. "I hope we'll have some variations to our offense that will give opposing defenses problems."

"I think he comes back to coaching with a clean perspective," Bidwill said. "I'm confident Bud can do it."

As Cardinal veteran Jim Bakken said, "His record remains tangible evidence he's a true winner."

THE WILKINSON RECORD: Wilkinson's 1947 Oklahoma team brought home a Big Six conference championship in his first year as head coach. His teams swept the Big Seven conference championships from 1948-59 and won a Big Eight championship in 1962. The winning streak of 47 consecutive games set by his teams from 1953-1957 is the longest in collegiate football history. The Sooners ran up an incredible string of 73 conference games without defeat, beginning in the Big Seven and concluding in the Big Eight. Wilkinson's winning percentage of .828 (145-29-4) ranks him among the top ten winningest coaches in football history.

Wilkinson was named Coach of the Year by the National Football Coaches Association in 1949 and by the Associated Press poll in 1950. He is a member of the College Football Hall of Fame.

BACKGROUND: Wilkinson played guard for the University of Minnesota in 1934 and 1935, then switched to quarterback in 1936. Minnesota won the national collegiate football championship in two seasons during that time. Wilkinson also was a standout for the Gopher hockey and golf teams.

His first coaching position was at Syracuse University where he served as an assistant coach from 1937-41. In 1941 he returned to his alma mater as an assistant coach and remained there until 1943.

During the war, he was an assistant coach at the Iowa Pre-Flight School. He returned to college coaching as an assistant at Oklahoma under Jim Tatum in 1946 and took over as the Sooners' Athletic Director and Head Football Coach in 1947.

Wilkinson ran for a U.S. Senate seat from Oklahoma in 1964. The highly successful businessman was a television commentator for collegiate football from 1965 to 1976. In 1961, he was appointed by John F. Kennedy as national director of the President's Council on Physical Fitness and later joined the Lyndon Johnson administration. He worked at the White House from 1969-1971 as a special consultant to Richard Nixon.

Wilkinson lives in St. Louis with his wife Donna. Wilkinson's two sons, Pat and Jay, live in Oklahoma City. Pat is an opthalmologist. Jay, a former Duke University football All-American, is a successful businessman.

Wilkinson is the 27th head coach in Cardinal history and the sixth head coach since the Big Red moved to St. Louis.

Bud Wilkinson explained some of his football philosophy at the March 2, 1978 news conference, which featured the announcing of his appointment.

WILKINSON SAYS

ON RETURNING TO COACHING: "I've missed the clarity of the challenges that sport brings. The final score. The next victory. The thrill is immediate. No one remembers second place. Our commitment is to excellence.

"I think I'm relatively current. Pro football has a high level of sophistication, but I think the factors that win are the same factors that win at any level."

ON MAKING THE TRANSITION FROM COLLEGE TO PROFESSIONAL RANKS: "Professional football is different from the college game in that you have the players the total time. The execution is more sophisticated and the athletes remarkably talented. It's a much higher level of skill and excellence.

"But it's still defenses versus offenses and a matching of talent. It's still a question of excelling at all three phases, defense, offense and the kicking game — or you're in trouble. It's still a question of avoiding errors. It's still the mission of the coaching staff to help the players develop their skills to the maximum. None of those things have changed in the last 15 years."

ON OFFENSES AND DEFENSES: "It's still a tactical game. It goes through phases, trends and fashions. If a team introduces an offense or series of plays that works against a defense, soon every other team in the league adopts it.

"Before long, the defenses adjust, then the cycle starts again. After all, it's easier to defend what you are familiar with than things you have not seen. This is going to be a challenge for me."

INSIDE FOOTBALL AND ITS PARTICIPANTS: "If you've ever been around an athletic team in any sport, you understand the human relationships that evolve; the intensity of the experience, the fascination with the game itself. You may play championship bridge four nights a week, but the cards remain inanimate. In football, the cards are animate, human beings from different backgrounds with varying personalities and this makes it a vibrant experience. Anyone who's ever been involved understands and shares the conviction.

"You know when your season starts and when your season ends, but you don't know what will happen in between. That's the fascination. You try to maximize the skills of your players and you try to combine those skills to maximize the quality of the team and that's exciting, no question about it. In other fields, the intensity of emotion is not as great, the human relationships are not as encompassing . . . There's nothing quite like it . . . The heights of joy are acute, the depths of depression are acute . . .

"Having it all come together is part of the experience. Certainly business and politics are challenging and exciting. But I have found nothing to compare to the immediacy of athletics."

ON THE 1978 FOOTBALL CARDINALS: "I've looked at film with the other coaches and we've reviewed the players with Joe Sullivan and Larry Wilson and I think we're all agreed that we have a reasonably sound football team, both offensively and defensively. Like every other team in the league, we'd like to improve everywhere. Our greatest need is backing up good players with good players. Our first team talent is good."

ASSISTANT COACHES

BETTIS

THOMPSON

TOM BETTIS, Defensive Coordinator

The new coordinator for the Cardinal defense is Tom Bettis, who joined the Cardinal staff this year after 12 seasons as defensive backfield coach with the Kansas City Chiefs. He also served as the Chiefs' head coach after Paul Wiggin was released midway through the 1977 season.

The Cardinal management and coaching staff combined to coax the 45-year-old Bettis to St. Louis. He is noted for the development of young players and his Chiefs' secondaries led the American Conference in interceptions for five straight seasons (1966-70) and in 1974. He helped coach Kansas City to a Super Bowl appearance in 1967 and the championship in 1970 along with AFC championships in 1966 and 1969 and playoff appearances in 1968, 1969 and 1971.

Bettis is a native Chicagoan. He attended St. Mel High School, then went on to Purdue when he was an All-American selection in 1953 and 1954 and made the All Big Ten team for three seasons, as a linebacker and offensive guard. In 1954, he was fourth in the Heisman Trophy balloting, gathering more votes than any other lineman that year. He also was co-captain of the 1955 College All Star team.

Bettis' pro career began with Green Bay after the Packers made him their first draft choice in 1955. He was a starting linebacker with the Packers until 1961, helping them earn a world championship. In 1962 he was traded to Pittsburgh before concluding his career with another world championship team, the 1963 Chicago Bears.

Following a brief retirement to private business, he was encouraged by Hank Stram to join the Kansas City staff in 1966. He also had served as a pro talent scout in 1964 and 1965.

Bettis and his wife Valerie have three daughters. Twenty-one-year-old Lisa graduated from Arizona State in 1978 with a degree in education. Karen, 20, will be a junior at Arizona State and Krista, 14, will be a freshman in high school.

PETE ELLIOTT, Offensive Backfield

Another collegiate coaching giant and a former assistant to Bud Wilkinson at Oklahoma, Pete Elliott brings a rich college football background to the Cardinals' 1978 coaching staff. Pete has served as head coach at Nebraska, California, Illinois and Miami. Before joining the Cardinals, he was the Athletic Director at the University of Miami.

Elliott began his coaching career under Wilkinson at OU from 1951-55. He left in 1965 to become head coach at Nebraska and spent the next three seasons (1957-59) as head coach at California before a seven year term at Illinois (1960-66). Elliott's Pacifc Coast champion Golden Bears went to the Rose Bowl in 1958 and his 1963 Illini won a Big Ten championship and the Rose Bowl over Washington. He also coached the 1973 and 1974 University of Miami football teams.

As an All-American quarterback at Michigan, Elliott played on two undefeated Wolverine teams (1947 and 1948). Elliott is the only athlete in Michigan history to earn 12 varsity letters (four each in football, basketball and golf).

Elliott, 51, was born in Bloomington, Ill. He received a B.A. in history from Michigan in 1949. He and his wife, Joan, have two sons, Bruce, 27, and David, 26, both of whom played in Rose Bowl games for Michigan. Bruce is a Michigan lawyer and David is the defensive backfield coach at Toledo University. Pete's brother Bump is the Athletic Director at the University of Iowa.

RUDY FELDMAN, Defensive Line

Rudy Feldman, another former assistant to Bud Wilkinson at Oklahoma, brings to the Cardinal staff a total of more than 20 years of coaching experience in both the collegiate and professional football ranks. Feldman was an assistant coach with the San Diego Chargers for four years before joining the Cardinal staff. He coached the Chargers' defensive line from 1974 to 1976, then moved to handle their offensive line in 1977.

Feldman has been an assistant coach at three Big Eight schools and was a head coach at New Mexico for six seasons. He began his coaching career at Iowa State in 1957 and spent the next five years (1958-62) with Wilkinson at Oklahoma before serving as the top assistant at Colorado from 1963 to 1967. As a head coach at New Mexico from 1968 until 1973, he coached a West team in the East-West Shrine Game in 1971.

The 46-year-old native of San Fransico and Palo Alto High graduate, was a guard at UCLA from 1950-53. He was captain of the 1953 team that had an 8-1 record and played Michigan State in the Rose Bowl.

Feldman and his wife Joanne have two sons — Kirk, 20, who is a senior at UCLA and Kent, 17, a senior in high school — along with a 14-year-old daughter, Lisa, who is a high school freshman.

HARRY GILMER, Quarterbacks and Receivers

Harry Gilmer was asked to remain with the Cardinals after the 1977 season. It was a request that the 52-year-old former NFL player and head coach was happy to honor. Gilmer, an outstanding college and NFL performer, begins his 21st NFL coaching season and the fourth year of his second tour of duty with the club. He was the Big Red's quarterback coach from 1967-69, before coaching with the Atlanta Falcons from 1970-74.

Gilmer's decision to stay with the club gives the Cardinals' 1978 coaching staff a sound foundation and a link with the top-flight offensive thrust produced by the team over the past few seasons. He and Jim Hanifan, coach of the Big Red offensive line, are returning from Don Coryell's staff.

Over the years, Gilmer's NFL coaching stops also have included offensive backfield (1957) and defensive coach (1958-60) under Buddy Parker at Pittsburgh and defensive coach with Minnesota from 1961 to 1964. He was head coach of the Detroit Lions from 1965 to 1966 and compiled a 10-16-2 record.

A quarterback at Alabama, Gilmer was the NFL's No. 1 draft choice by Washington in 1948. He twice gained All Pro honors (1950 and 1952) with the Redskins and played at Detroit for two seasons (1955-56). A native of Birmingham, Ala., Gilmer and his wife Katherine have a son, three married daughters and four grandchildren.

FRED GLICK, Defensive Secondary

A former Cardinal player (1959-60), Glick joined the Big Red staff after five years as defensive secondary coach under Frank Kush at Arizona State. Glick was a three-year All Pro as a player with Houston (All-AFL, 1962-64) and holds a league record set in 1963 with 12 interceptions. Among other honors in six seasons with the Oilers (1961-66), he was named Most Valuable Player in 1964 and co-captain of the 1966 squad. He retired from playing after the 1966 season because of a back injury.

Glick brings to the Big Red staff player's knowledge of the pro game and 10 years of collegiate coaching experience. He started coaching in 1967 as defensive coordinator for the division champion Norfolk Neptunes of the Continental Football League. In 1968, he was a coach at New Mexico State. He spent the next four seasons, from 1969-72, as the defensive secondary coach at the University of Arizona before moving on to the Arizona State staff.

Glick, 41, was born in Aurora, Colo. He played quarterback and defensive halfback at Colorado State and was named the Rams' outstanding senior athlete in 1958. Glick and his wife Marlene have three children – Greg, 21, David, 19, and Kathy, 17

JIM HANIFAN, Offensive Line

Jim Hanifan's offensive line has been making opponents' defenses grimace since he took over in 1973. Hanifan's "offensive" five have allowed the fewest quarterback sacks in the NFL for three of the past four seasons. They led the NFC last year in fewest sacks with 15 and in 1974 tied a league all-time record for fewest sacks in a season (8, with one coming on a field goal try).

After the 1977 season, when the Cardinals finished 4th in the NFC and 7th in the league in total offense, and three offensive linemen were selected to All Pro teams, Hanifan was named the Assistant Coach of the Year by the National 1000-Yard Club. The 1000-Yard Club is an organization of professional football players who have gained more than 1,000 yards in a season.

Hanifan, 44, begins his sixth season with the Big Red. Prior to joining the Cardinals, he served as offensive line coach for Don Coryell at San Diego State and was the passing game coach at California in 1970-71. Other college coaching stops have included offensive coach for Utah from 1966-69, assistant coach at Yuba (Calif.) Junior College (1959-61) and Glendale (Calif.) Junior College (1964-65). He also has coached prep football for two years as head coach at Charter Oak High School in Covina, Calif.

At California, Hanifan starred as an end from 1952-54. As a senior, he led the nation in receiving and earned All-Coast honors. He played for Toronto of the Canadian Football League in 1955 and played service ball under Coryell in 1956.

A native of Compton, Calif., Hanifan and his wife, Mariana, are the parents of a son and daughter.

BUDDY PARKER, Special Assistant to the Head Coach

Another legendary coaching figure who joined the Cardinals this year is Raymond K. "Buddy" Parker. Parker produced two world championship teams (1952-53) and three Western Conference champions in his six years as head coach of the Detroit Lions (1951-56), then went on to complete nine more successful years with the Pittsburgh Steelers. He was a player and coach for the Cardinals in Chicago from 1937-49.

Parker's responsibilities include scouting Cardinal opponents and presenting reports to the Big Red staff. He also will scout the Cardinals, giving Wilkinson and his coaches the chance to review what opponents expect from the Big Red.

Born in Slaton, Tex., Parker, 64, played halfback at Centenary College in Shreveport, La. He played for Detroit in 1935-36, then joined the Cardinals in 1937. He played quarterback-blocking back until 1943 when he retired from playing. He stayed on with the club as an assistant to Cardinal coaches Phil Handler and then Jim Conzelman (1946-48). In 1949, he shared head coaching duties with Handler. Parker joined Detroit in 1950 as an assistant coach, and the next year took over the head coaching job. He compiled a record of 45-23-2 with the Lions and later a 51-47-6 mark with the Steelers. Parker is a member of the Helms and Michigan hall of fames.

Since he left the coaching ranks in 1965, he has been involved in the real estate business in Kemp, Tex. He and his wife, Jane, have one son, Robert, who lives in Denver, Colo.

JERRY THOMPSON, Special Teams

Jerry Thompson, 40, becomes the first Cardinal coach ever hired specifically to handle the Big Red's special teams. A former player and coach for Bud Wilkinson at Oklahoma, Thompson spent the 1977 season as a coach in the Canadian Football League where the kicking game dominates. He was the defensive coordinator for the Saskatchewan Roughriders. For 10 seasons before that, Thompson was the defensive line coach at Arizona State University and saw the Sun Devils take part in four Fiesta Bowls and the 1970 Peach Bowl.

A native of Ada, Okla., Thompson was an All-American lineman out of state champion (1955-56) Ada High School. He was a three-year starter at guard and tackle for Wilkinson's conference champion Oklahoma Sooners (1957-59). In his senior year he was named an All-American, Academic-All-American and to the 1959 All-Big-Eight team.

Thompson stayed on at Oklahoma as coach of the freshman team in 1960, left to coach high school football for two years (1961-62), then returned to OU as an assistant line coach for Wilkinson from 1963-65. He also coached the defensive line at Kansas State University in 1966.

Thompson holds a business/education degree earned at Oklahoma and received a master's degree in counseling from Arizona State in 1973. He and his wife, Sue, have two sons – Tad, 18 and Tee, 15.

DON BROWN, Flexibility/Strength Coordinator

One of the newest members of the Big Red staff is Don Brown, 27, who will be charged with the development of daily conditioning programs for each of the Cardinal players.

Brown was an assistant coach for the Wake Forest University football team in Winston-Salem, N.C., while attending graduate school there. He holds a B.S. in mathematics; earned an M.A. in counseling in 1976, and was enrolled in a masters in Business Administration program in 1977.

Brown graduated from Butler (Pa.) High School and studied under Paul Uram, now flexibility coach for the Pittsburgh Steelers. Uram pioneered an approach to conditioning athletes that involves flexibility drills and has resulted in fewer muscle strains and tears. During his college years at Wake Forest, Brown was a starter at outside linebacker. In his senior year (1972), he was the Demon Deacon's Most Valuable Player.

Brown is single.

GEORGE BOONE, Personnel Director

Tackling the coordination of the yearly search for collegiate players is George Boone, who enters his sixth year as the Big Red's director of personnel and leader of the team's college scouting operation. Filling the team roster each year with young and talented players has become a monumental task in the NFL and Boone is well-experienced in its many facets. He began his NFL work in 1966 as a scout for the Central-Eastern Professional Organization (CEPO), a scouting combine for seven league teams, including the Cardinals. In 1968, he was hired by the Big Red as assistant personnel director, a post he held for five seasons. He assumed the duties of personnel director in 1973.

Boone, 39, was born in Louisville, Ky. He was a three-year starter at offensive and defensive tackle at Kentucky from 1957-59 and was an assistant coach with the Wildcats from 1960-65. Boone holds a bachelor's and a master's degree in education from Kentucky. He and his wife Dedee are parents of four daughters and a son.

STAN WEST, Personnel Scout

An All-American for the Big Red's new head coach Bud Wilkinson at Oklahoma in 1949 and a former assistant coach at Minnesota, Stan West begins his 14th season with the Cardinal organization. He was the first full-time scout hired by the club in 1965 and has seen the scouting staff grow to five members over the past eight years. West's main scouting territory includes states in the Southwest and Midwest.

As a player with the Sooners, West was an All-American lineman and was Los Angeles' first draft choice in 1950. After five years as a starter at linebacker for the Rams, he played for the New York Giants in 1955 and the Chicago Cardinals from 1956-57. After three seasons as assistant coach of the Minnesota Vikings (1961-63), West stayed out of football for a year, but returned in 1965 to join the Cardinal staff.

A Norman, Okla. resident, he and his wife Mary Frances have two sons – Tom, 25, is an oil field landman and Ted, 21, is an architecture student at the University of Oklahoma.

BO BOLINGER, Personnel Scout

Another All-American for Wilkinson at Oklahoma, Bo Bolinger enters his eighth year as a scout for the Cardinals. He joined the staff before the start of the 1971 season after a number of collegiate coaching stops and two years as an offensive line coach in the Canadian Football League. He handles the West Coast territory for the club, plus other assignments from George Boone.

LAIR

A small but sturdy guard, Bolinger received his All-American honors in 1955 and was a two-time all conference selection with the Sooners. He stayed with Wilkinson at OU in 1956 as a graduate assistant, then coached high school football at Miami, Okla. in 1957. His first collegiate coaching position was at Denver, where he handled the offensive and defensive lines from 1958-60. He also was the defensive coordinator at the University of Tulsa (1961-62), offensive and defensive coordinator while at New Mexico (1963-67) and defensive coordinator for Utah State in 1968 before joining the Calgary Stampeders for the 1969-70 seasons.

Bolinger, 45, and his wife, Barbara, live in Tempe, Ariz. They have three daughters and a newborn grandson.

MATT LAIR, Personnel Scout

Matt Lair, who begins his fifth season on the Big Red's scouting staff, has more than 28 years of football coaching and scouting experience. Lair, 52, came to the Cardinals in 1974 after working for six years with the Central-Eastern Professional Organization (CEPO), a scouting combine for seven NFL teams including the Cardinals. His territory includes states in the Midwest.

Born in Paris, Ky., Lair played linebacker and guard at the University of Kentucky, which he attended from 1941-42 and 1946-47. He was a high school coach in Kentucky and Alabama for five years and then spent the next 15 years in assistant roles at Kentucky, Texas A & M and Texas Tech. He joined CEPO in 1968. Lair and his wife, Helen, live in Tupelo, Miss.

ACE PARKER, Personnel Scout

A member of the Pro Football Hall of Fame, Clarence "Ace" Parker begins his third year with the Big Red. Parker, 65, played in both the NFL and the National Baseball League. He was inducted into the Hall of Fame in 1972.

Called one of the last of the great triple-threat stars in professional football, Parker was an all purpose offensive and defensive back with the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1937-41, the Boston Yanks in 1945 and the New York Yankees of the All-America Football Conference in 1946.

Parker had been an All-American tailback at Duke University in 1936 and was the Brooklyn Dodgers' first draft choice in 1937. Because he had signed a baseball contract with the Philadelphia Athletics, he didn't report to the Dodgers until midway into the football season. In his first full season in 1938, he gained all NFL honors, decided to stay in football and turned down a baseball contract with the Pittsburgh Pirates. He was named the NFL's Most Valuable Player in 1940 before a service call interrupted his career in 1941. He returned to the game for the 1945 and 1946 season to complete career totals of 498 rushing yards and 14 TDs on 148 attempts and 335 completions in 718 passing attempts for 4701 yards and 30 TDs.

Ace also has served as a scout for the San Francisco 49ers. His main territory is the eastern United States and he and his wife, Thelma, live in his native town of Portsmouth, Va.

JOHN OMOHUNDRO, Trainer

A most familiar face in the Big Red locker room belongs to hard-working and dedicated John Omohundro. "Johnny O" begins his eighth season as head trainer for the Cardinals. Previously, he spent four seasons as assistant trainer.

Omohundro is a native of Salt Lake City, Utah. He holds a bachelor's degree in physical education from the University of Wyoming, where he also earned 26 hours of graduate study. Before joining the Cardinals in 1967, he was a student assistant trainer and graduate assistant trainer at Wyoming from 1962-67. He also worked as the head athletic trainer at the College of Southern Utah in Cedar City in 1961.

Omohundro, 35, and his wife, Martha, are the parents of two sons, Johnny, 4, and Jimmy, 2.

JIM SHEARER, Assistant Trainer

Helping to keep the Cardinals healthy and protected from injuries again this season is Jim Shearer, who begins his fifth year as the Big Red's assistant trainer. Like Omohundro, Shearer received his training experience at the University of Wyoming. He received a bachelor's degree in physical education in 1972 and returned for graduate study while serving as a graduate assistant trainer in 1973 and 1974.

A native of Worland, Wyo., Shearer also has worked as assistant recreation director for the city of Gillette, Wyo. and head trainer for Gillette High School from 1972-73. He and his wife, Nelma, have a year-old son, Christopher.

BILL SIMMONS, Equipment Manager

The task of assembling and caring for the Big Red's vast equipment resources falls again into the capable hands of Bill Simmons. Simmons has seen the Big Red's equipment coffers grow steadily in his many years with the club. He became the Cardinals' equipment manager in 1966 and will begin his 13th season in 1978. Before joining the Big Red, he was a teacher at Ferguson Junior High School in St. Louis and he officiated and coached high school sports for 18 years.

Born in Kansas City, Simmons, 53, earned a bachelor's and a master's degree from Northeast Missouri State University around tours of military duty in World War II and the Korean War. He and his wife, Katie, have five children and three grandchildren. Eldest son, Dan, is in his sixth year as equipment manager for the New Orleans Saints.

"To play in the NFL you have to have physical ability, but I would say concentration is 60 per cent of being successful. Ninety per cent of the time a ball is dropped, it's due to lack of concentration . . . You have to develop strength in your hands. Before a game, I'll sit at my locker holding the ball like I'm palming a basketball. I'll drop it and catch it with one hand. Or I'll toss the ball against a wall and practice catching it. Sometimes I lounge at my house talking on the phone, watching TV and I'll be holding a ball."

DAN DIERDORF ON DAN DIERDORF

"Once you reach a level in the NFL where you're respected as an All Pro player there's more motivation to retain that status. Everybody keeps checking to see if you're losing a step. There is no chance to rest on laurels. People want to know what you'll do for them tomorrow. You end up constantly reproving yourself. The next year, the next game, the next series – the next play. In fact, I'm super-aggressive the first couple of plays of every game. I want my man to know he's in for a long afternoon."

JIM OTIS ON JIM OTIS

"Who cares about your longest run or your time in the 40 or how many yards you have? What counts is getting important yards when your team needs them. It's consistency. It's how many times you can get those threes, fours and fives. Good teams have consistent running backs. My running style is conservative, but it's consistent."

ROGER WEHRLI ON ROGER WEHRLI

"It used to be that there were only a few players in the league who could run the 4.5 forties. Now we face one each Sunday. If a corner doesn't have speed or doesn't have a real understanding of the game, he gets embarrassed. When the Mel Gray's of the world score on the bomb, there's the cornerback trailing him. I don't want to be in that position."

RAY WHITE

Linebacker	Syracuse	5th Year
Ht: 6-2	Wt: 220	Born: 5/5/49	FA-75

PRO: Aggressive linebacker who has always shown great potential but has been held back by history of severe injuries. Missed entire 1977 season after knee injury against Denver in preseason . . . Turned in impressive performance during 1976 season before knee injury in team's sixth game placed him on injured reserve . . . Started five games and intercepted two passes — one setting up a touchdown against Green Bay and the other stopping a Dallas drive in a 21-17 Cardinal victory . . . "Dedicated to Excellence"

J. Robert Victor
PRESIDENT

We were very pleased when Larry Wilson was selected to the Professional Football Hall of Fame in the first year he was eligible.

He has been associated with Hamiltonian Federal since his "rookie" year (1960) with the Cardinals.

He has been an inspiration to our employees and a living example of our slogan "Dedicated to Excellence."

We are happy and proud he is a member of our board of directors, most of all, that he is our friend and associate.

1977 GAME-BY-GAME

GAME 1 — CARDINALS 0, DENVER BRONCOS 7

Sept. 18 at Denver (75,002) — The Cardinals were shut out for the first time since 1974 when New Orleans stopped St. Louis 14-0. Jim Hart completed 18 of 35 passes for 221 yards against the Broncos. Terry Joyce had six punts for 255 yards and a 42.5 average. Jim Bakken missed two field goals and had two blocked. Denver's score came in the third quarter on a 10-yard run by Otis Armstrong. Kicker Jim Turner converted for the extra point.

GAME 2 — CARDINALS 16, CHICAGO BEARS 13

Sept. 25 at St. Louis (49,878) — The Cardinals used three field goals from Jim Bakken and a 17-yard, Jim Hart touchdown pass to J. V. Cain to earn their first victory of the regular season. Hart finished the day with 16 completions in 24 attempts, including 12 consecutive completions, a new single game Big Red record. Cain caught five passes for 55 yards and Mel Gray grabbed five for 95 yards. Terry Metcalf returned three kickoffs for 69 yards. The Cardinal defense limited Walter Payton to 36 yards in 11 carries.

GAME 3 — CARDINALS 14, WASHINGTON REDSKINS 24

Oct. 2 at Washington (55,031) — Cardinals were unable to score until the fourth quarter as Redskins' quarterback Billy Kilmer directed a balanced Washington offense that gained 163 yards on the ground and 198 passing yards. Jim Hart completed 17 of 31 passes for 238 yards. Terry Metcalf ran 10 times for 52 yards, caught two passes for 40 yards and returned four kickoffs for 94 yards and one punt return for 12 yards. Ike Harris caught six passes for 98 yards. It was the Redskins' fourth victory over the Cardinals in the last five meetings between the two teams. Defensive back Perry Smith was injured and missed the remainder of the season.

Oct. 23 at St. Louis (48,417) — The Cardinals exploded for an early 21-0 lead over the Saints, but New Orleans came back to tie the game at 21 at the half. An equally potent second half gave the Big Red 28 points to the Saints' 10. Terry Metcalf accounted for 286 yards with two completed passes for 18 yards, 78 yards rushing, five catches for 62 yards, 29 yards in punt returns and three kickoff runbacks for 99 yards. Jim Hart completed 17 of 24 passes for 225 yards, including a 38-yard strike to Mel Gray. Second-year running back Wayne Morris had his best day as a pro gaining 95 yards in 25 carries and scoring four touchdowns. The win evened the Cardinals record at 3-3.

Oct. 31 at St. Louis (50,323) – The Cardinals' shutout was the first since the Big Red blanked the Packers on Sept. 19, 1976 by a 29-0 score. The Cardinals used touchdowns by Steve Jones, Conrad Dobler, Jerry Latin and Mike Sensibaugh. Dobler jumped on a Wayne Morris fumble in the end zone. Safety Sensibaugh raced 79 yards with an interception. The Big Red defense caused five turnovers in all, three of them interceptions. Jim Hart completed nine of 13 passes for 113 yards.

Nov. 14 at Dallas (64,038) — The Cardinals improved their record to 6-3 giving the Cowboys their first loss of the season. The Big Red scored 14 fourth quarter points to win the game, after trailing 14-3 at the half and 14-10 entering the fourth period. Jim Hart, who completed 10 of 24 passes, hit Mel Gray (49 yards) and Jackie Smith (three yards) with final period TD passes. Wayne Morris ran 21 times for 72 yards and Terry Metcalf carried the ball 15 times for 63 yards. Gray caught three passes for 76 yards.

GAME 10 — CARDINALS 21, PHILADELPHIA EAGLES 16

Nov. 20 at St. Louis (48,768) — St. Louis returned to the "Cardiac Cardinal" form with a come-from-behind victory over the Eagles. Jim Hart, who completed 13 of 27 passes for 240 yards, directed a last minute 13-play, 79-yard drive that ended with a one-yard touchdown run by Jim Otis. Otis' score came with just 38 seconds remaining in the game. The Eagles had taken a 16-0 third quarter lead before the Cardinal offense came alive. Otis, who had replaced the injured Wayne Morris in the lineup, raced 25 yards for a TD at the 8:48 mark of the third period. Following an Eagle punt, Hart connected with Mel Gray for a 69-yard TD. Otis finished the day with 18 carries for 97 yards. Gray caught four passes for 142 yards. Defensive backs Lee Nelson and Mike Sensibaugh were both injured and lost for the remainder of the season.

GAME 11 — CARDINALS 14, MIAMI DOLPHINS 55

Nov. 24 at St. Louis (50,269) — The Cardinals' hopes to extend their winning streak to seven games were abruptly dismissed in this sobering Thanksgiving Day loss to Miami. The Dolphins totaled 503 yards against a patched-up Big Red defense. Bob Griese completed 15 of 23 passes for 207 yards and six Miami touchdown passes. The Miami defense held Cardinal rushers to 54 yards, grabbed two St. Louis fumbles and picked off a Jim Hart pass. Hart finished the day with 15 completions in 28 tries for 167 yards.

GAME 12 – CARDINALS 7, NEW YORK GIANTS 27

Dec. 4 at New York (71,826) – The Cardinals, still reeling from their lopsided loss to Miami the previous week and again hampered by numerous injuries, were "open game" for the New York Giants. Although the Cardinals had defeated the Giants seven consecutive times before this meeting, including a 28-0 shutout earlier in the season, the Giants took advantage of the Big Red's vulnerability. New York held the ball nearly 40 minutes of the game, outgaining the Big Red 318 yards to 252. New York rushed for 234 yards with Doug Kotar leading the attack with 88 yards in 18 carries. Jim Hart completed 12 of 23 passes for 126 yards. Giants' cornerback Bill Bryant intercepted a Hart pass and returned it 54 yards for a TD.

GAME 13 – CARDINALS 20, WASHINGTON REDSKINS 26

Dec. 10 at St. Louis (36,067) – For the second consecutive season, the Cardinals had their playoff hopes stopped by the Redskins. And it was the second loss of the season to Washington – a repeat of what happened in 1976 when the Big Red finished with a 10-4 mark, but did not gain the playoffs. (Washington made it, however, with an identical 10-4 mark.) For this bitter cold Dec. 10, the Redskins scored a season-high 26 points. Quarterback Bill Kilmer directed the attack, completing 14 of 28 passes for 120 yards. Calvin Hill caught eight passes for 66 yards. Terry Metcalf rushed 19 times for 119 yards and caught two passes for 79 yards, including a TD catch of 68 yards.

GAME 14 – CARDINALS 7, TAMPA BAY BUCCANEERS 17

Dec. 18 at Tampa Bay (56,922) – The Cardinal record fell to a final 7-7 when this fourth consecutive defeat was added to the season-ending losing streak. The seven 1977 losses equalled the total number of defeats St. Louis suffered the previous two seasons (10-4 finish in 1976 and 11-3 in 1975). The loss to Tampa Bay put the Cardinals in third place in the NFC East behind first-place Dallas and second-place Washington. The Cardinals managed only one score against a team which the previous week had won its first contest (over New Orleans) since joining the NFL in 1976. Terry Metcalf's 39 yards in this game, put him over the 2,000 mark in yards gained (rushing, receiving and returns), making him the first player in NFL history to achieve this goal in three different seasons (1974-75). The Cardinals' all-time leading tight end Jackie Smith, with 480 catches for 7,918 yards, played his final game.

1978 POST-SEASON GAME PRIORITY

On December 30-31, the NFC and AFC divisional playoff game matchups will be as follows: The two division winners with the best regular season won-lost percentage will be the home teams. The division winner with the best percentage will be host to the wild card team and the division winner with the second best percentage will be host to the third division winner.

If the wild card team is from the same division as the winner with the best percentage, the division winner with the best percentage will be host to the third division winner and the second highest division winner will be host to the wild card team.

For the NFC and AFC conference championships on January 7, 1979, the surviving division winners with the best regular season won-lost percentages will be the home teams.

FORMULA TO BREAK STANDINGS TIES FOR POSTSEASON PLAYOFFS

To break a tie within a division, these steps will be taken, in order: (1) Best won-lost percentage in head-to-head competition; (2) Best won-lost percentage in games within division; (3) Best won-lost percentage vs. common opponents; (4) Best rating determined by losses vs. common opponents (low total wins; ties count half-win, half-loss); (5) Strength-of-schedule; (6) Best net points vs. common opponents; (7) Best net touchdowns vs. common opponents; (8) Best net points vs. all opponents; (9) Coin toss.

In selecting the wild card teams, if there are two or more teams tied with the leading won-lost percentage, these steps will be taken: If there are more than two teams tied and two are from the same division, the division tie first will be broken. The surviving ties would then be broken under the following conference tie-breakers.

To break a tie within a conference, these steps will be taken, in order: (1) Best percentage in head-to head competition. This is applicable in a three-way tie only if one club beat both others or one club lost to both others; (2) Best won-lost percentage against common opponents; (3) Strength of schedule; (4) Best net points vs. all opponents; (5) best net touchdowns vs. all opponents; (6) coin flip.
